

Octopuses are molluscs from the sea. They have eight arms covered with tentacles. They have no bones and are very soft. They can change the colour of their skin and blend with the background, so that nobody can find them.